No information was forthcoming to indicate whether Mr. Bryan's views on the personnel of the Cabinet were brought here by Colonel House. The President-elect said merely that Colonel House had brought "no message" from Mr. Bryan.

The Governor sent for his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, to spend the evening with Colonel House and himself. Secretary Tumulty has been so occupied with the Governor's correspondence in Trenton that he has not been able to visit Princeton in several weeks. Mr. Wilson took along walk late in the afternoon, and nearly met the army of suffragettes who are walking to Washington. He pessed along Nassau Street, the main thoroughfare, where more than a thousand students were huddled together cheering and singing huddled together cheering and singing in anticipation of the arrival of the women campaigners.

When the correspondents visited the Governor he inquired if the suffragettes had arrived, and was told they had not, but that they might visit him ter to-night. The President-elect only smiled.
